Foreword

Time passes, and soon another school year fades away—a year filled with success, disappointment, victory, defeat, tears, laughter—all a part of the memories of Yadkinville High.

However, a school could have none of these memories if it did not have students to give it life, to fill it with sights and sounds, to be responsible for the cherished fragments that live in the mind forever.

It is to this end, then, that the 1963 YADKINIAN is dedicated: to serve as a reminder of the students and the life of Yadkinville High.

The publication of a yearbook is dependent on a sponsoring group. The Senior Class is given priority, and, if it agrees to sponsor the book, a staff is selected from its members.

The school yearbook is a product of a staff of twelve students selected from the sponsoring class or club, and working to recall in words and pictures the happenings of the school year. It involves work, worry, and satisfaction in a job well done.

The first staff meeting acquaints the new staff members with their duties and gives them an idea of what is expected of them during the year.

Students who are interested in a staff position submit a written application, stating their qualifications and reasons for desiring a specific job. Before the selections are made, applications are carefully studied and each applicant is discussed by the Senior Class officers, senior sponsors, and the principal.

Actual work now begins. The circulation manager accepts deposits from students who wish to buy yearbooks.

Funds to pay the expenses of the yearbook are raised by the sale of the yearbooks and the sale of advertising space to merchants and businessmen in the surrounding area.

Pictures are a vital part of the yearbook. Many rolls of film are required to fill the layout spaces with permanent records of all aspects of school life.

After months of dreaming, planning, writing, and working, the staff completes the preliminary work, including a thorough check of all copy and pictures. The materials are sent to the publishers who return a proof to be checked by the staff. Completed at last, the book is ready to be read and enjoyed.

Special Events

Several events of special significance added to the interest of school life this year. Some were history-making, others were in some way special to the students.

YADKINVILLE SCHOOL RECEIVES THE GOVERNOR

History was made at Yadkinville School when Governor Terry Sanford, on a state-wide tour of the school systems, spoke to Yadkin County students on the quality education program in North Carolina.

The purpose of the Governor's tour was to encourage the young people of the state to acquire all the education that is possible.

After his address, Governor Sanford became acquainted with many of his young listeners.

The Governor was welcomed to the school by the officers of high school homerooms and by school officials.

COLLEGE DAY, 1962

Juniors and seniors from all over the county gather in the Yadkinville gymnasium to get a preview of North Carolina colleges...

...to ask questions about college life...

...to become acquainted with college curricula...

...to learn of vocational opportunities available to all students.

POWDER PUFF FOOTBALL

Yadkinville girls got into the action by staging a football game, complete with Homecoming activities, to help finish off the football season.

The final whistle showed a triumph of the Junior-Senior team over the Freshman-Sophomore girls.

Dedication

In appreciation for their help and guidance during our Junior year, and in recognition of their contributions to the school and its students, we dedicate the 1963 YADKINIAN to

The studies of a senior are aimed to prepare him for the days ahead, whether they be college days or working days. He studies many new and interesting aspects of knowledge: he moves from the English of Shakespeare to the "beat" poetry of Greenwich Village; he learns about man, his problems, his language, his advancement; he develops a conception of the vast world of science and tries to understand it. It is these concluding high school courses which prepare him for life in a challenging world.

Through a course of study directed at giving him a basis for his final year of highschool, the junior is able to develop new ideas, grasp new discoveries, and learn from his everyday experiences. In acquiring a knowledge of a foreign language, he gains an understanding of the world's people. Constructive work gives him a chance to put his ideas on display. Finally, through the experience of planning and carrying out the annual Junior-Senior banquet, he develops a sense of the need of cooperation while improving his social skills by actual practice.

Classroom Scenes

The sophomore year offers the student a wider variety of courses than his previous year. Now he can begin to pursue the course of study which he enjoys most. He becomes acquainted for the first time with the great heritage which we enjoy through literature; he explores the biological realm of nature and discovers why things live and how; he explores the world, from its earliest history to present day happenings; and he learns practical skills which will be of use to him in future years.

ACTIVITIES

Yadkinian Staff

Brenda Todd, editor; Mrs. R.P. Buchanan, adviser; Carol Moore, associate editor.

Carolyn Abbott, class editor; Shirley Wooten, senior editor.

Drawing the layout, a vital part of the publication of the year book, is the work of the art editor.

Larry Shermer, advertising manager; Gray Reavis, business manager; Jimmy Hutchens, circulation manager.

Class representatives were added to the staff this year as assistants to the class editor.

The staff gets down to business with the layout artist from the publishing company.

Homeroom

Presidents

The presidents of each homeroom are responsible for seeing that the homeroom functions properly as a unit, that class activities continue in the teacher's absence, and that members of the homeroom cooperate in class activities.

Fulfilling their duties, homeroom presidents take over in the teacher's absence.

Beta Club

The National Beta Club is a non-secretive organization whose members have achieved a higher-than-average standing scholastically, and have shown the characteristics of leadership and integrity. The club is dedicated to the task of bettering school life through improving the student as an individual.

Mr. James Williams and the Reverend Everett Freeman are two of the many members of the Lions Club who helped keep the gate during our football season.

Rondal Oliver and Donald Rupard help Mr. Max Welborn announce the games. The pressbox was built by the agriculture boys supervised by Mr. Cameron.

The 2-8 record of the Hornets may be an indication of the way the football bounced, but it does not tell the whole story of the season.

There is no record of the time spent by the players, coaches, parents, and patrons; there is no record of the values derived by the participants; there is no record of the pleasure and pride of the spectators as they watched the development of the players.

Nevertheless, the Hornets were hurt by key injuries to players and by an exceptionally light line. Ronnie Brown and Gray Reavis led the team on offensive play, Gray having been high scorer; Roger Chipman, Lawrence and Keith Warden, and Donald and Rex Todd led the defensive play.

Although the five seniors will be missed, prospects look good for next year. Coach Boyette is hoping for an increase in speed and strength from next year's junior and sophomore classes.

Some of the Hornets' many faithful followers are shown as they watch the Sparta game.

Yadkinville girls finished the regular season as the number one team in the county. They finished second in the county tournaments, losing by only two points and finishing the playing season with a record of sixteen wins and five losses. Kay Dinkins led the scoring, with Vickie Dinkins squeezing in a close second and Peggy Pardue pushing for a third. Carol Moore led the team in defensive play. Steady improvements were made in scoring and ballhandling. The real motivation of the team came from the desire to play and from the spirit of the team.

Four of the girls won special honors at the close of the season: Carol Moore, All-County, All-Tournament, All-Northwest; Vickie Dinkins, All-County, All-Tournament; Kay Dinkins, All-County, All-Tournament; Peggy Pardue, All-Tournament.

The Hornets began the season with only one starter from the '62 team. In spite of inexperience, they finished the season as winners of the Yadkin County Tournament and went to the semi-finals of the District 7 Tournament. Their overall record was seventeen wins and seven losses. Junior Steelman led the scoring, with Ronnie Brown second and Bobby Kent a close third. Bobby Kent, topped only by Junior Steelman, was the second leading rebounder on the team. The greatest improvement was made in defense and in the development of better balance among the boys as a team.

Junior Steelman, captain of the Hornets, accepts the Yadkin County Championship Trophy from Superintendent Fred C. Hobson.

Ronnie Brown and Junior Steelman were named to the All-County and All-Tournament Teams. Junior received the trophy for Most Valuable Player in the Yadkin County Tournament.

Junior was named on the All-Northwest Team; Bob Kent and Ronnie received honorable mention.

As the yearbook goes to press, the prospective team lacks real varsity experience, but has many junior varsity players with the potential of becoming good ballplayers. Last year's infield, along with the pitchers and catcher, were lost by graduation. The success of this season will depend chiefly on the development of the pitching staff.

Spring practice begins with the boys working out on the baseball diamond.

Nancy Harrison, Bonnie Carter, and other members of the Monogram Club help with the concessions during the Yadkin County Tournament.

Mr. Ralph Holcomb and Mr. Henry Chipman, members of the Boosters' Club, work at the door during the Yadkin County Tournament.

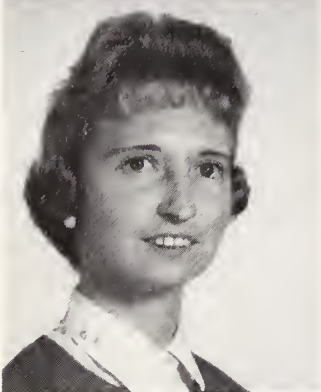

Bill McMurray and Nick Allred operate the electronic equipment for the basketball games.

Elementary School Chorus

Members of the Elementary Chorus with their director, Mrs. LaVerne Shore.

Elementary studies are aimed to introduce the student to new worlds of knowledge and to broaden his present views of everyday life. From the first grade reading circle to the practical science of the eighth grade, the elementary child is exposed to knowledge sufficient to serve as a basis for his high school studies.

Through participation in group and class activities, the elementary child learns by doing. He explores his world and keeps up with current events; he experiments with scientific devices and learns why they behave as they do; he acquaints himself with nature while learning about himself. Each activity and each lesson brings something new for him to add to his store of knowledge.

Because the number of school children increases more rapidly than the available classroom space, two mobile classrooms are in use for the first time this year.

Yadkinville School Band

The newly organized Yadkinville band is made up of students in grades four through eight. Under the direction of Mr. Lee Reynolds, the band is sponsored by the school and is financed by individuals. Plans have been made for these students to play with advanced band members next fall.

Piano students from Yadkinville, participating in a music contest in High Point, all received ratings of superior or excellent.
